Schedule data works in core reservation and pricing flows, but is difficult to reuse across the digital journey. Without schedule awareness across digital touchpoints, customers encounter dead ends and airline systems generate unnecessary downstream requests.

How Air Schedule solves it

Complete network generation

Transform SSIM, SSM/ASM and OAG data into an up-to-date network of direct, connecting and interline itineraries, applying minimum connection time rules.

Schedule-aware digital journeys

Bring current routes and operating dates into customer touchpoints, guiding customers toward options the airline can actually offer.

Your network, ready to use

Make the calculated network available through a simple API and ready-to-use JSON across eCommerce, intranets, partner services and internal processes.

Lower pricing transaction costs

Filter non-operating requests before they reach pricing systems, avoiding chargeable null responses and reducing transaction volumes.
